Reviews

It is great and fantastic. I actually have read and so i am certain that i am going to going to go through once again yet again in the future. I realized this ebook from my dad and i encouraged this book to find out.

THE LINK (CLASSIC REPRINT)

Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from The Link Alfred Lewis (Hard-Earned Luck, page 3) has firsthand knowledge of storms at sea, for he was in the Merchant Marine during the recent war. He visited most of the war theatres, saw a little action with the enemy, but much more with the elements. Born in Boston, but reared in Los Angeles, he attended the University of California with what he calls vague ideas of being a psychology professor. Instead, however, lie did a long stretch in the Mojave Desert for a construction company. Now lie devotes full time to writing, and this year will sec his first book. Treasure in the Andes, published. John Crouse (Battle Without Blood, page 13) is one of the army of veterans who left the foxholes and the pup tents for a trailer on a college campus, in the pursuit of higher education. His choice was Pennsylvania State College, from which lie was graduated last month. His Army service during the war totaled four years, almost three of which were overseas. He has other published work to his credit, and since his hobby-beside sports-is writing of all kinds, you may be sure the list will grow. James L. Harte (That Free Men Shall Stand, page 17) began his literary career at the tender age of eight, as editor of a weekly newspaper page for children. After graduation from school he became a sports reporter and has since done newspaper and magazine work of every type. He has written four books: An Intimate Biography of Charles Dickens, This Is Upton Sinclair, The Amazing Story of James J. Brad-dock, and The Abbe of Abbey Down. Mr. Harte. as he...
