That she has a history no one will deny, and that it should be recorded in some substantial manner has also been granted. The task and the delay of compiling this history have been greatly increased by the interference of other business, and especially by the difficulty of acquiring reliable data. The record of the first five years of our existence is lost, and the information for that time has been obtained only through personal interviews and correspondence. The editor has been greatly assisted by Brother C. R. Paul, who has by his hearty sympathy with the work given valuable aid in the earlier portions of our history. He is also under obligations to Brothers Currier, E. W. Andrews, Bross, Merrick, and Wightman, and to many others in the chapter, for valuable and material suggestions. Articles contributed by members other than the editor appear over the writers names. No attempt has been made to record all of the events that have transpired during our career, as this would require more space and labor than we have at our disposal.
